FIRST PLATFORM TO HELP & FOCUS ON THE VICTIMS OF HATE SPEECH

Tracking Hate.

There is a first for everything.

Once you end up in a shitstorm or you feel threatened online, you will have a very hard time deciding what to do. The reason is simple: only few people have experienced it.

As victims of online hate still haven't got a go-to-address in case of online hate, we strive for...

- creating an analytics platform through which we can identify cases,
- and document online hate for the victims to be used in the courtroom later on

Building Tools that help.

Additionally we want hataid to become a quickly usable self-help platform that people can download to defend themselves and their friends.

Things you need in such situation comprise

- First tips on how to handle a shitstorm (hateaid.me has a German print version already)
- Tools to document attacks for legal use later on
- Question-and-answer tools to guide you through such a situation

There is no known application like that available. We would be happy to build it with your help. Potentially also as a chatbot.

Providing legal aid.

Thanks to a new jurisdiction in Germany we are now able to work against hate speech far more efficiently. HateAid is going to provide a highly automatized tool to follow up on hate speech und make it very simple for victims to sue the people behind anonymous accounts.

- Tracking of hate speech
- Cheap legal solution
- Online interface and automatized requests
